Don Brewer

Born and raised in South Georgia and the Disciples church, which was the “most formative factor in my life”; learned of TCU at Orange Bowl game with UGA and went to Texas for college and seminary, “2nd most formative factor “because I met and married Nancy there”; 47-year active pastoral ministry in GA, TN, NC, then interim after retirement);

Inherited Hiawasse land 1968, settled there after retirement; enjoyed motorcycle (until 3 years ago) as well as building computers including writing programs; three children, 4 grandchildren

CLCC: “Most ecumenical church I’ve ever attended and it was founded that way,” and “so many meaningful contacts, though distance is a barrier to developing these.” Ask Don about afternoon with Martin Luther King

Donna Desenfants

Born and raised in Chicago, Illinois. Went to college at Illinois State University in Normal, IL. Degree in Environmental Health. Worked 25 years as Environmental Health and Housing inspector for Hoffman Estates outside of Chicago. Inspected restaurants, daycares, and pools. Met husband Ray, a police officer in Court. He finally convinced her to go to lunch and the rest is history. Married 30 years. Came to Georgia and bought land on whim in Tranquility Estates. Built in 2010 and retired and moved down here in 2011. Had wonderful neighbors (Maureen and Dan Hicks). Invited them to CLCC. CLCC has a sense of service and purpose and most of all LOVE. Love the community.

Arden Miller

Born in Atlanta and raised in Atlanta and Daytona Beach. Ended up in Technical field working with software since 2001, using software to create custom planning, forecasting, and report apps for customers around the world. Met Clay when both working at UPS and ended up getting married in 1997. Found CLCC at church on the hill. Regular visitors until David cornered us at the 2015 yard sale and we became members. Love to camp, fly fish, hike, and spend time with our dogs. Love Montana for outdoors. About CLCC: Accepting of everyone. Love Early service for more casual service.

Mac (Marvin) McRoberts

Born, raised, educated (college and seminary) and married Eileen in Ohio; raised in United Brethren (now Methodist) church that influenced 4 brothers to become ministers and 2 sisters to marry ministers; early pastorates then 27 years as Army Chaplain; ministry included Family Life Center, Meinheim; Staff Army Medical Center, Fort Ord; Methodist Health Care, San Antonio (after retirement)

Army life allowed them to fall in love with Europe and see much of the world, creating a “leaky” bucket list, currently planning visits to Indonesia and India; retired to mountains, “sorta done with ministry”, but greeters and sermons drew them to CLCC (2003) and now chair of music committee, choir, Chaplains Corp, nominating committee, Resource and Discipling councils...and grateful for all
